Thanks and with 45 minutes between both speakers, it should go quickly.

Hadn't heard about this, but what I can share is that FHWA is very excited about the bored tunnel recommendation. In fact, they really seem highly focused on helping us succeed in delivering the project within the aggressive timeline requested.

Randy Everett is the brand new mega projects rep for AWV/520/405, so I can't imagine he will go into much detail at this briefing.

First I've heard of this. Generally I would think John would be supportive, but there is good reason to check for sure. Doug/Kris, your thoughts?

Dillon asked me to contact you about FWHA project managers speaking to the WHUF folks this Wednesday. Do we have any idea what they might say? How are they feeling about our projects? Any issues we need to be aware of and prepared to address? Dillon will be attending.
