This is consistent with my understanding and I talked with Senator Brown and she said that would work for the Ser-up, the Senate will most likely say that we need to toll it.

This is what Judd told Dye....

Question: How will the state's commitment of $2.8 billion be funded? Is tolling an option?

Answer: The governor will work with the legislature to secure the state's funding commitment to the project. All sources will be considered to bridge the gap between the authorized $2.4 billion and the commitment of $2.8 billion, including tolling the bored tunnel.
