Making sure you also received this. I think combined with some other folks, we are in pretty decent shape.

Thank you again for taking the time to join us in Olympia for this very important first step in the legislative process. This will be an excellent opportunity for our coalition to set the record straight with the media, and help frame the debate in the Senate. By and large, the Senate is with us but we are taking nothing for granted. Your voice at the table is key to demonstrating the strength and breadth of the coalition that has consolidated behind the Bored Tunnel Hybrid Alternative. Below are logistics for the afternoon.

When do we need to be in Olympia?

Meet at 2:45pm in the Capitol Rotunda. Don Stark and Patrick McRoberts will be coordinating a media advisory huddle at 3:00pm and your presence there would be much appreciated.

The hearing itself begins at 3:30pm in Senate Hearing Rm 1, ground floor, J.A. Cherberg Building (large building to the southeast of the capitol building).

Can I carpool?

Yes, let me know if you are driving and have extra space or if you need a ride.

Where should I park?

Best option for parking is 15th and Columbia street (click here for map and directions <<http://maps.google.com/maps?hl=en&tab=wl>>). Bring plenty of one-dollar bills for the parking meter.

When is showtime?

Unfortunately, there are three presentations before the public hearing starts. Since there is no telling how long the presentations will take, please arrive at 3:30pm and bring your blackberry to pass the time. I will sign everyone in, so we will be first up. The hearing itself should take about a half an hour. Hopefully, they will wrap it up by 5-ish.

How long do I have and what should I say?

Assume you will only have a minute to a minute-and-a-half to voice your opinion. I believe all of you have been contacted about talking points by either Jon Scholes, Patrick McRoberts or myself. I'm also attaching to this email a copy of the Frequently Asked Questions document. Let us know if you need more information.

Who else will be there?
