Purpose of Briefing:

The Port commission is now doing monthly roundtable discussions among a panel of stakeholders. March 10 will include a Fishermen's Terminal roundtable at 1 p.m., to be followed an Alaskan Way Viaduct discussion at 2 p.m.

The commission would like to frame the viaduct discussion in terms of the importance of freight mobility and north-end access and connectivity for the Ballard, Interbay and Duwamish industrial areas.

We were asked to give a presentation of about 15 minutes total about those topics, after Mike Merritt makes introduces the issue. Our presentation will be followed by the panel discussion, and public testimony. The two questions the panel will address are:

1) What must the bored tunnel option or any Viaduct replacement option do (for your business)?

2) What actions should the Port take to ensure that the interests of your business and of the Port are protected, including ensuring adequate capacity for today and the future; ensuring access to Port facilities; protecting the maritime economy; improving the environment; and minimizing construction disruption?
