KING5 reports the Committe for No Tunnel plans an 8 a.m. protest before the 8:30 news conference. They didn't say the location but I would assume it's in front of the World Trade Center. They interviewed a couple of waterfront business owners worried about vibrations and noise. But had a Advisory Cmmttee member named Don something, I think. He did a great job saying tunneling technology can do the job needed and that economic disruption with a cut and cover or other option would cost more than the bored tunnel. That's a good message.

See you in the morning.
