I'll second the kudos on another great piece of video work that I thought was another week out! Once again the team delivered in a big way, maintaining the 'whatever it takes' work ethic.

That said, we need to jump on south end discussions quickly, because what made it out today falls outside of Dave Dye's direction to keep south end design/scope changes to the absolute minimum possible.

More tomorrow...

Subject: Tunnel video

I just toured the KING 5 website. They have posted the tunnel video, I think it is a great clip, given what we know today about the bored tunnel. It's a great service the public. Please pass along my thanks for everyone that worked to get it ready for today.
